The origins of algebra can be traced to the ancient Babylonians, [page needed] who developed a positional number system that greatly aided them in solving their rhetorical algebraic equations. The Babylonians were not interested in exact solutions but approximations, and so they would commonly use linear interpolation to approximate intermediate values.

The persuasiveness of Charles Mills' paper Racial Liberalism (2007) arises from the fact that it plays off one's pre-theoretic beliefs about the lacunae between the ideals of liberalism as a political philosophy and the practices of the modern liberal-democratic state. In the twenty-first century, the growing awareness that liberal-democracies have restricted the access of "non-white ...
